

Gas Detection Sales, Hire & Service

Sales and Consultation

Access Unlimited has fast become a preferred distributor of the BW Technologies by Honeywell range of portable, fixed and wireless gas detection products.

At Access Unlimited we offer first class sales and service to meet your requirements in purchasing the appropriate equipment for your Atmospheric Monitoring needs. We provide a customer focused service to multinationals right through to the individual contractor.

Contact us today for further information and advice

Access Unlimited offers a quality and customer focused service centre which is dedicated to the safe function of your gas detector.

Routine maintenance is essential to ensure optimum performance, reliability and will extend operational life of your equipment.

In order to ensure the safe function of your gas detector during operation, there are a range of guidelines and legal regulations that must be adhered to. At Access Unlimited all inspections, calibrations and repairs are carried out by fully trained and competent persons using NATA certified gas. Regular maintenance through calibrations and function tests, guarantees compliance with these regulations and Australian Standards.

Access Unlimited offers a rapid turnaround time for calibrations and repairs to help minimize down time and productivity loss. Access Unlimited can also accommodate those emergency situations that may occur to help keep your project moving. We carry an extensive range of spare parts to help meet the needs of today's fast paced world.

Access Unlimited also offers full operator and product training for your staff at our custom designed training centre, or at your site.

